

The trip of a lifetime

Kentucky electric co-op students experience D.C.

Kentucky's electric cooperatives sponsored 61 high school seniors on the trip of a lifetime in June. A delegation of rising leaders visited the nation's capital for the 2025 Washington Youth Tour, experiencing the city's rich history and nonstop energy. Students enjoyed a front-row seat to the stories, service and sacrifices that have shaped our country and cooperative communities—all while making unforgettable memories of their own.

Kenergy proudly sponsors the statewide youth tour program, which gives students the chance to explore our nation's history, meet elected leaders and see cooperative principles in action. "We believe in giving young people opportunities to lead," says Mallory Wafzig, manager of cooperative outreach for Kentucky Electric Cooperatives. "The youth tour helps students build confidence, expand their network and develop the leadership skills they'll carry into the future."

This year, Aubrey Nies, Raynei Roy and Weston Spencer represented Kenergy on the tour.

Trip highlights included a tour of Thomas Jefferson's Monticello, a visit to Arlington National Cemetery, where students took part in a wreath-laying ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the 9/11 Memorial at the Pentagon, the Marine Corps Sunset Parade and a walking tour of D.C.'s iconic memorials and monuments. Students also spent time exploring the Smithsonian museums and experienced the power of language at the Planet Word Museum.

"I had such a great time, and I am very thankful for this experience," says Roy. "I enjoyed all the relationships made, learning how our government runs and seeing all the sights."

For the first time, Kentucky's delegation toured the White House, with some students catching a glimpse of President Donald Trump as he oversaw a flagpole installation on the lawn. At the Capitol, students asked questions and explored how government works. They met with Sen. Rand Paul and engaged in thoughtful conversations about the farm bill, artificial intelligence and the role of Congress in shaping national policy. Staff from the House Energy and Commerce Committee, as well as the offices of Rep. James Comer and Rep. Thomas Massie, offered a behind-the-scenes look at the legislative process.

"As part of our commitment to community, Kenergy invests in tomorrow's leaders," says Kenergy CEO Tim Lindahl. "The Washington Youth Tour is an experience that stays with them for life."

Message from the President

Working hard to serve you

As an electric cooperative, Kenergy is guided by a board of directors—and every member has a vote in the elections that select these leaders.

We communicate regularly about our election processes and timelines. Stay up to date by following us on social media, reading Kentucky Living and visiting our website at www.kenergycorp.com.

Most importantly, when it's time to vote, show up and make your voice heard. We want your participation.

At our July board meeting, officers were elected as follows:

- Craig Roberts—Chairman
- Susan Blanford—Vice Chairman
- Richard Basham—Secretary-Treasurer
- Debbie Hayden—Assistant Secretary

Our board of directors is working hard to serve you, our members. Co-ops are more than just electric utilities. We make life better in our communities. And when you join us in the cooperative difference, you'll have the satisfaction of knowing you made an impact.
